GERRY'S WILL PARS SON-IN-LAW FROM HIS MILLIONS

FOUND ASLEEP

Lorraine Kitterly, 3, was found by the police in a doorway on Dorchester avenue after her parents of No. 280 East Ninth street, South Boston, had frantically sent out the alarm. The child had wandered out to show her chums her new Spring clothes.

FREE MAN HELD AS WINTHROP SLUGGER

A very unpleasant week ended today for Eric Nelson Griffie, Boston hotel employe, when he was cleared in Chelsea court of any connection with sluggings in Revere and Winthrop.

Judge Cutler dismissed Griffie at the request of Acting Chief of Police William Tappan of Revere, who explained that the man alleged originally to have been assaulted by Griffie had identified another man, now under arrest, as the real "slugger."

Previously Griffie had been cleared of any connection with the brutal beating administered to Mrs. Florence Mound of Winthrop in the Battery Station of the Narrow Gauge Railroad.

Acting Chief Tappan told Judge Cutler that Hyman Stone, the Revere slugging victim, has identified Michael Carmody, ex-slender of South Boston, as the assailant.

Carmody has also been identified by Mrs. Mound as her attacker. It was through the offices of the Boston Lodge of Elks, in the kitchen of whose hotel and clubhouse Griffie is employed, that the man was enabled to clear himself.

The Elks proved that Griffie was at work at the time Mrs. Mound was attacked and they hired counsel for him. A number of Elks were in court today and when Griffie was released they accompanied him back to Boston.

$20,000,000 FOR SONS AND DAUGHTERS

Norfolk, R. I., March 14 (A.P.)—The many million-dollar estate of Commodore Edmund T. Gerry, philanthropist, is evenly divided among his four children by his will filed in Probate Court today.

The four sons, each of whom will receive estates estimated at about $5,000,000 are United States Senator Peter Joseph Gerry of Warwick, R. I.; Robert J. Gerry of New York and Providence, Mass.; George Gerry and Mrs. Francis E. Perry.

The will leaves their shares to the daughters as to their fortunes separate from the affairs of their husbands and free from the management of the husbands.

The part of the will relating to the 12th clause of the will reads: "I, the said Commodore Gerry, do hereby bequeath to each of my daughters under this my will shall be held and enjoyed by her as a separate estate from the control or interference and not subject to the debts or engagements of any husband, and with full power to my said daughter to sell or dispose of the same in kind, real, well and instant, or otherwise, in the same manner and with the effect as if she were sole and unmarried."

Consistent with filing of the will, four friends of the family explained what they believed to have been the motive of Commodore Gerry, who was one of the founders of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children and who had given generously to its support, in leaving money to charity and in taking steps to prevent his daughters' CUTS OUT SONS IN LAW.

GRANDSON FOR CROWLEY

BABY RICHARD AND MOTHER
Superintendent of Police Michael H. Crowley is in high good humor today following the christening of his fourth grandson, Richard Paul Crowley, in St. Paul's rectory, Dorchester. Baby Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crowley of No. 18 Leyland street, Dorchester. About 100 persons attended the christening. The child is shown in its mother's arms.

DOG SAVES 10 IN FITCHBURG

Fitchburg, March 14.—"Buffy," a mix of a dog, saved ten persons in death by fire early today, he added, causing the discovery of a house that threatened the whole Finnish settlement.

The whining dog roused his master, Oscar Johnson, in his home at No. 4 Mechanic street. Johnson found the house filled with smoke and flame.

He first led his wife and four children to safety, then went up and roused Alfred Guay, his wife and two children.

CARROLL'S "BATHTUB" PETITION GIVEN COURT
Washington, March 14 (A.P.)—The petition of Earl Carroll, New York theatrical producer, for a review of his conviction of perjury growing out of the famous "bathtub" party given on the stage of his theatre, was formally rejected by the Supreme Court today.

N. E. TEXTILES SOON TO RUN 90 PER CENT.

Manchester, N. H., March 14 (A.P.)—Predicting that the textile industry in New England was on the verge of a forward movement after several years of depression, Robert A. Amory, of Amory, Brown Company, controlling factors in the Nashua Manufacturing Company, declared before the Lions' Club today that the time was not far off when New England mills would be running from 90 to 100 per cent.

"It has been demonstrated," he said, "that there is enough business in the country and if we in New England can get our fair share of it there will be a forward movement."

Mr. Amory deplored the spirit of antagonism between the northern and southern manufacturers, saying there is plenty of profitable business for both sections of the country.

He pleaded for a fair spirit of cooperation and asserted it was his belief that within a few years the present era of difficulty would be over.

"CLEANUP KID" ARRESTED ON STOLEN AUTO CHARGE

This course hero of alcohol and in his bid of marling prowess today led to the arrest of Samuel H. Pearl, twenty-one, and his pal, Roy Holder, on charge of automobile larceny.

"In the 'Cleanup Kid' from Nashua," Pearl announced to Patrolman Walter Buzze, who was in civilian clothes in the Back Bay, "and I'm fuzzy who shares my liquor."

Baxter trailed along and when Pearl and Holder entered an auto he asked to see their license. They had none, the registration plates were stolen and police say the car was stolen.

PERMISSION SOUGHT
Etta Baeder of No. 9 Anderson street, West End, wants to become the bride of Max Winer. But the youth's parents object to the match as they say he is only 18. He was denied a marriage license at City Hall, but claims he can prove he is over 21, and that his lawyer will secure a writ compelling the granting of a license.

DIVORCE GOAL IS SCORED ON I. W. SMALL, JR.

Irvine W. Small, Jr., for many years one of the leading amateur hockey stars of New England, had a divorce goal scored on him in East Cambridge Probate Court today when his wife, Nancy S. Small, was awarded a divorce on the grounds of cruel and abusive treatment.

Small, who once captained the United States hockey team at the Olympic games, has his latest conquest in most desecrated manner, the court giving Mrs. Small the custody of the three children while Small must pay $20 a week toward their support.

The divorce was granted on October 20, 1917. They lived for a time in Wakefield and later moved to Cambridge.

Mrs. Small claimed that her husband's athletic prowess was not confined to hitting the puck. She testified that he resented her with a black eye during a family altercation, while Mrs. Elizabeth J. Puse of Wakefield, who once lived in the same house with the Small family, testified that the life of the hockey player's wife was a constant struggle.

Small received considerable injury in 1923 when, as an amateur hockey player, he used the management of the Boston Arena for $1,000 per year when he was due time for his "amateur" service. The case ended a sensation among the athletic circles throughout the country. But it died down when the case was settled out of court.

The Merchant of Venice

"If I can catch him once upon the hip, I'll feed him the ancient grudge I bear him." Antonio, a rich merchant of medieval Venice, incurred the hatred of Shylock, the money lender, because Antonio, generous to a fault, frequently loaned money to people without demanding the interest.

Shakespeare's Immortal Drama

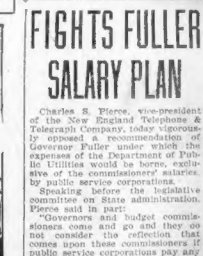

"My purse, my person, my extremest means, I'll rather dwell in your occasions." Bassanio, a young nobleman of slender means, loved Portia, a rich heiress of Belmont, but he needed 3,000 ducats to finance his courtship. He sought his wealthy friend Antonio and asked him to lend him the money.

FIGHTS FULLER SALARY PLAN

Charles S. Pierce, vice-president of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company, today vigorously opposed a recommendation of Governor Fuller under which the expenses of the Department of Public Utilities would be borne, exclusive of the commissioner's salary, by public service corporations.

Shakespeare's Immortal Drama

"You shall not seal to such a bond for me. I'll rather dwell in your necessities." Though Antonio had many cargoes at sea, he had no ready cash. He borrowed the money from Shylock, who asked no interest, but as a "merry contract," suggested that Antonio give him a bond with a pound of flesh as a forfeit.

SACCO PROTEST IN TOKIO

Tokyo, March 14 (A.P.)—Special police guarded the American Embassy today following a visit by a committee from the so-called Black League to file a protest against the sentence of Sacco and Vanzetti, now under death sentence in Massachusetts.

As it was Sunday, only a Japanese clerk was present when members of the committee arrived. They stated that they would return to see Ambassador MacVeigh. The incident was not viewed as serious, but the extra precaution was taken.

GERRY'S WILL SHUTS OUT HIS SON-IN-LAW

fortunes from coming under any domination but their own.

It was said that since the founding of the B. P. C. C. in 1874 the philanthropist had given approximately $1,500,000 toward its support and that he contributed generously to more than two score charitable causes.

It has always been the custom of members of the Gerry family, the friends said, to contribute to charities during their lifetimes and there was every reason to believe that Commodore Gerry left nothing in his will to be given to charity, as he knew his heirs would carry on the family tradition.

Of the clause concerning his daughter's fortunes it was suggested that this might have been written to protect Mrs. Gerry's title to her inheritance in view of her marriage to an alien. Mr. Gerry is a son of Archdeacon Drury, one time chaplain of the English House of Commons.

LEFT FIRST TO WIFE. The Gerry will, which was executed March 5, 1919, leaves the entire estate in life trust to the philanthropist's widow, Mrs. Louise M. Gerry. Mrs. Gerry died March 28, 1910, and the children get the property by a clause contingent upon the death of Mrs. Gerry prior to that of her husband. Commodore Gerry died in New York February 17 last.

The will named Mrs. Gerry executrix with almost unlimited power to handle the estate, but stated that if she died before the testator the sons should become executors and trustees.

The largest part of the estate consists of Manhattan Real Estate holdings, which were valued in 1912 at $1,000,000. Value of personal property is not known but is considerable. There are also extensive real holdings in Rhode Island.

ROBERT GETS YACHT. By the terms of a life trust created by their parents in 1917 the children have been receiving, in equal shares, the income of four valuable parcels of Manhattan real estate and by the will ownership is transferred to them of stock shares of Gerry Estates, Inc., a company formed to handle the Gerry realty holdings.

To Robert L. Gerry is bequeathed the steam yacht Electra, which became widely known during the years the testator was commodore of the New York Yacht Club.

The famous Gerry library, one of the finest in America, said to include more than 20,000 volumes and is housed in the Gerry mansion at Fifth avenue and Sixty-first street. New York, goes to Senator Gerry.

The codicil vests in Mrs. Gerry, the former Mabel Gerry, title to the summer home, "Seaverge," in Newport, R. I., and the other Gerry realty here.

EX-SING SING CONVICT HELD IN MILDEN ROBBERY

Following a three year term in Sing Sing Prison, New York, Julius Herbert was held in Superior Court, Cambridge, today, for trial on indictments charging breaking and entering and larceny of clothes, valued at $144, and jewelry, valued at $125, from Hyman Frank of Malden. The alleged crime occurred in 1923.

FATE OF 'CZAR' OF PERU IN HANDS OF 48 VOTERS

Peru, March 14 (A.P.)—Frank Caceres, who by virtue of the number of offices he holds in this one of the smallest towns in the state, wears the title of "mayor," is facing the political fight of his life to retain not only his offices, but the privilege that sweetens them.

For in a Democratic in an effort to oust him from some or all of the offices of town clerk, elected town treasurer and tax collector, have put virtually a full slate in the field and any one of the 48 electors who will exercise the franchise will have a snow good reason for the inactivity.

ASK FOR MORE PAY FOR JUDGES IN BAY STATE

Headed by Charles F. West, vice-president of the First National Bank, a delegation of fourteen businessmen and lawyers today called upon Governor Fuller urging favorable action on a bill increasing the salaries of the judges of the supreme, superior and the land courts. After a hearing, a favorable report was made by the legislative committee on public service.

FIRST I SOAK THIS CUP OF APRICOTS OVERNIGHT

NEXT ADD APRICOTS AND ONE CUP CHOPPED CELERY

THEN I BROWN THREE POUNDS OF BROWN ROUND STEAK CUT IN SQUARES

SERVE IN A BOWL OF RICE

THIS A B C DINNER IS FLAVORED WITH THE SPICE OF ORIGINALITY.

Here's ABC Dinner

If you've measured the ABC's of successful cooking, you know that in food, too, flavor is the thing that makes the palate and lingers long in memory. The hostess who favors her food with the spice of originality is the one who is known as "a wonderful cook."

Often, you might think that apricots and beef have little in common. But joined together with some celery in a heavy aluminum covered kettle and simmered until tender, this combination is truly delicious. We try it out on the family soon. It invariably makes dinner serving minutes and time an easier twenty call for "more."

Here's the dark secret of the make-up of this dish. APRICOTS—soak a small cup of apricots overnight in just water enough to cover. Have three pounds of round cut into two-inch pieces. Cover with hot water or milk, or part each. Season with salt, pepper, a tablespoon of minced onion and a few gratings of lemon rind. Cover tightly and simmer until the meat is tender. Serve in a border of rice or mashed potatoes.

When Can Young Child Safely Eat Bananas?

A question frequently asked me is, "When can young children eat bananas?" And the infallible answer is, "As soon as the skin is lined with dark brown."

This means that the banana is thoroughly ripe and is as good for the kiddies as it is for the adults. With milk it makes a perfectly balanced ration for them. Bananas, bought for economy's sake while the tips are still green are only partially ripe, but when cooked are easy to digest and delicious. After remaining in a warm room fruit will soon turn yellow ripe, which means that most of the starch content has now turned into readily digested sugars and the bananas are ready for grown-up consumption.

Soaks clothes clean
Dishes—1/3 less time

The most amazing success in the history of household soap!

It isn't the number of times that makes dishwashing such drudgery—it's the old-fashioned time-stealing method.

The Chipso method of washing dishes is easier. It is one-third quicker! It offers you half an hour less work each day.

Here it is!

Run hot water over a heaping tablespoon of Chipso in your dishpan. You have fine suds instantly. No need to "beat" the water with a shaker or your hands. So here is time saved right away.

Wash glass and silver first, as usual. They will come out sparkling! While you're rinsing and drying them, let your china soak in the lively suds. Chipso soaking dissolves grease.

While you rinse and dry the china, soak the cooking utensils, adding Chipso if more suds is needed.

The larger blue-and-orange box of Chipso takes care of a month's dishwashing—less than one cent a day!

Smart Set All Agog Over Fashion Parade to Be Held at Repertory Hall Tomorrow

WRAPS THAT ARE SPLENDIDLY BARBARIC IN COLOR and ornamentation; beach outfits that mock the sun for brightness; the very newest and oddest silken prints and color combinations, these are some of the things that have been gathered for tomorrow's Fashion Parade at Repertory Hall. Miss Grace Ripley has secured New York in her search. Miss Grace Ripley has secured New York in her search, ranging through the smartest fashion shows and shops and then going into the hinterlands of the great city to secure this or that eddy from some designer who dwells far from the stronghold of the fashionable modiste.

THERE WILL BE SEEN ON SOME FAIR MAIDEN A SALOME velvet beach suit, done in velvet soft and pliable as a piece of down, and colored magnificently to represent the sea. There's a Russian robe, fit to adorn the evening tulle of a Princess, done in Imperial red velvet and designed marvellously with varicolored beads "as a pin point and conspired to the fabric in a new process. Prints in weird geometrical designs and brilliant colors done into alluring frocks for the Summer time, smart accessories and costume jewels all lend enchantment to the scene.

GIRLS INTERESTED IN THE REPERTORY CLUB AND ITS AFFAIRS will be "modeled" away across the stage and posturing on the runway. Mrs. Homer Bigelow, Jr., Miss Betty Newell, Miss Eleanor Collier, Miss Edith Baker, Miss Charlotte Kennedy, Miss Olga Frothingham, Miss Virginia Thayer, Miss Emily Westworth, and over 200 many others, are in the parade. And 5:30 in the afternoon is the hour. A fashion parade seems to be a sure-fire hit. What more women can resist it, and the girls, themselves, "simply adore" to dress up in one gorgeous creation after another. I hear that one of Boston's old stand-by shops (that has looked out over the Common for 10, these many years), is opening up its boxes, just over from Paris, and is handing a wealth of lovely things to be paraded before envious feminine eyes.

THE ENERGETIC MISS ELDONORA SEARS MOVES SERENELY on from one tennis match to another, coming off second in one such racket tournament, first in another, and now pitting her skill with headlamps gathered at the Longwood indoor courts to battle for a national title. Miss Edith Sigourney, Miss Isabella Mumford, Miss Maude Palfrey, Mrs. J. Louis Bremer, Mrs. Roger Graywood, Miss Sarah Palfrey, and other local stars, are in the list. For this set of players, apparently, tennis is supreme, and to be contesting on the courts almost continuously in life's chief joy.

THE TENNIS OF THE ATTRACTIVE ENGLISHWOMAN, THE Baroness Clifton, will be watched with much interest. Possessing a skill that has won her fame, she will be a marked figure at Longwood. Actually, also, there is much interest in her advent. For a tennis is paramount only, the most informal of entertaining in polite society. Which is quite as it should be, for one who would be at her best on the courts.

CRUISING DOWN THE INLAND WATERWAYS AND UP THE Mississippi in the Winter and late Spring travel plan the Parker K. Kemble of Marblehead are following. Some seven or eight thousand miles will be logged before they can come more in home waters. Each Winter finds them doing some such Southern jaunt, but this year they extend their cruising area considerably, and after Florida go their way to the great inland river and so home by way of the lakes, across upper New York and perhaps through Champlain region. Inexpensive travelers, the Kembles, who spend their Summers in a hand-to-hand Georgia mansion, to Marblehead and their Winters mainly aboard their cruising motor.

THE MARBLEHEAD HOME IS ONE OF THOSE TALL SQUARE mansions purely Georgian, boasting box stairs and staid and genteel and secret stairways, and in this particular case, some magnificent scenic wallpaper with high ceilings and unrivaled in color and design. It was in this fine old mansion that Miss Frances Kemble, 52, of Philadelphia. FOR THE TALL AND HANDSOME MISS ELIZABETH PENNO AND her mother, Mrs. L. Carter Penno, there was a wedding at Trinity on Saturday when they appeared for the Thomas-Bradley wedding ceremony. The Pennos have been in England for several months, prolonging their stay from month to month and rearranging their calling-home plans time and again. They have a pleasant Summer place in Rowley, and a stately Beacon street town house "on the water side" of Boston's aristocratic thoroughfare. Still they find life in England much to their liking and have spent much time there in the past two years, with the daughters, Miss Elizabeth, Miss Pauline and Miss Florence, put in some study time at Oxford.

THE EARLY SPRING EXODUS FINDS ALL MANNER OF important Bostonians on the wing. Mrs. John Mitchell, Mrs. James R. Hooper, Jr., and Mrs. Rockhill B. Potts are on the steamship France which sailed for France on Saturday. The Rev. Endicott Peabody, headmaster of Groton School, with Mrs. Peabody and their daughters, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Margery Peabody, sailed on the Steamship Fort St. George for Bermuda.

GENE TUNNEY

World's Heavyweight Champion

To be a 'bum' or not to be a 'bum,' that is the question that bothers all fighters—even the great John L. was called a 'bum,' says Tunney.

HAVE you noticed that heavyweight champion, 'lucky stuff,' 'just a bum' and 'fluke winner' seem to be synonyms?

And did you ever hear of any heavyweight in the 45 years of modern history who won in any other way than with 'lucky punch,' or by beating up an old, broken-down, physical bulk?

No titleholder that I can call to memory—and none whose name is known to the common boxer—ever annexed a throne by other means. The reason is that he won not because of his own ability, but because of the 'vicious' condition of the opposition.

There is no doubt that the majority of the fighters who have won titles in the past few years have done so by beating up an old, broken-down, physical bulk.

Possible Future in American Nut Growing

THE native American black walnut will in the future stand good chances of competing with the "English" walnut. If experiments of Prof. J. Russell Smith materialize. He believes he can give the black walnut a thin shell.

The Honeymoon Special---Then and Now

AT night, while you are reading your "Dixons" or your "Fitzgerald" bed, you hear the new, for the "Fitzgerald" is a really later taking the curve in the road. A young laugh squealing out, and then the dimming of the light into the night, and you sip your claret, take a pinch of snuff, and sandwich, wag your head and say—"Ah, that is the sound of the young."

Have you tried this delicious new BEAUTY SOAP?

A Castile Beauty Soap! It sounds perfectly ideal, does it not? How often have you wished for it — a dainty Castile with a generous lather, a Castile with the modern touch and all the marvellous ancient virtue of Castile.

Naturally, you know that the supreme virtue of Castile is its utter purity. Doña* Castile — this delicious new beauty soap — is of course 100% pure vegetable oil content. Even its fragrance — and you will love this exquisite fresh odor — is given it by its own pure ingredients.

Dofia Castile is unscented, as every toilet soap should be. No sophisticated woman likes to have the perfume of her personal choice confused by the artificial scent of her toilet soap! And another lovely thing about the odor of Dofia—it rinses off instantly with the lather, leaves no trace, and leaves the skin exquisitely soft and smooth.

You will find Doña the most exquisite toilet soap you have ever used, beautifully molded to fit your hand, "hard-milled," so that it lasts. Remember the name, Doña Castle, when you buy your next cake of beauty soap. Ten cents, wherever you buy your toilet soap.

Kind-Hearted Suggestion

THE MEDITATIONS OF A MARRIED WOMAN—BY HELEN ROWLAND

A WOMAN can dream in fifteen brief minutes—while a man requires twenty-one minutes to dream. He himself and get all hitched to together.

When this startling fact was recently discovered, the Chicago Tribune, the last of the Tribune City, and the Boston Herald, and a long list of other papers, all carried the story.

of course, a never was WHO— that pathetic old picture of a patient, exhausted man hanging around waiting for a woman to finish his picture. Ever since the wife waited for Adam to finish eating the apple and get on his feet, the woman has been busy—waiting for the devil's own.

Why doesn't a man who longs to dream that a woman? There he is, when he wakes up, all disoriented and with his foolish old eyes lying around in a daze, and everything to be put up with. Stunned on or startled together, enough to turn all around him to start a notion center.

Woman, on the other hand, has done away with all between, looks and patient features. She slips easily into two or three garments, pulls up a couple of stockings, runs the comb through her bobbed locks—and there she is, all in ONE PIECE.

Just this isn't the only dear old joke that has died in the last few years. There is the sweet, antiquated "old maid" joke, which snipped its last when the last intelligent humorist discovered that there is no such thing as an "old maid" any more.

And there were all the jokes about a woman's hair—the hair that dangled to the knees, the hair that got into the brother, the hair that she "couldn't do a thing with." All those beloved little whores had their throats cut with the coming of the bob.

And there was the "broomstick-straight" joke. It, too, has turned up its toes to the daisies. If any girl suspected that her hair was on STRAIGHT instead of coiled over one or two times, she would think, "And there were all the jokes about a woman's hair—the hair that dangled to the knees, the hair that got into the brother, the hair that she 'couldn't do a thing with.' All those beloved little whores had their throats cut with the coming of the bob."

RHEUMATISM CONQUERED

Hundreds of letters have been written from former sufferers of rheumatism and they have been completely rid of rheumatism by the use of Weldon's tablets.

It is through the blood that these tablets act, and they serve to reach all forms of rheumatism, sciatica, muscular and the more common type of rheumatism of the joints.

A million books on rheumatism containing this information were distributed in the campaign to cure rheumatism.

Weldon's tablets can be obtained from drug stores.

KRAZY KAT

A Fine Pitcher—By HERRIMAN

MEDBURY SAYS—

BY JOHN F. MEDBURY

ACCORDING to private statistics there are more spenges in this country than there are spenges.

THIS note of some people in 1926 over today spenging that 2011 was the best of to-morrow.

ONE fellow was so thirty that every time the Salvation Army gave him a doughnut, he'd borrow a cup of coffee to die it in.

HE'd eat for nothing and drunk free of charge.

A MAINE man used to borrow his neighbor's chickens and never return them until they laid their eggs in his yard.

THIS earliest guy of them all to his estate's house for dining and then borrowed his brother-in-law's teeth to eat with.

HE'S the kind of a fellow who'll ask you for a cigar and expect the couple with it.

LAST summer he got along right out too by keeping his food in the neighbor's refrigerator.

BUT he remembered this winter. He let them put their goal in his furnace.

HIS horse was robbed the other evening and he wanted to borrow their insurance policy.

HE can't help being thirsty. He called himself up on the phone one day and reversed the charges.

HE'S a semiambulant and always wears his brother's shoes when he walks in his sleep.

HE'S a great runner. He's never failed to beat a check in the bank.

OF course he tries to be liberal also. His middle name is generosity, but he usually travels under a non de plume.

Interesting Little Poodle

Some Two-Legged Miniatures Are Even Better

THE HON. MRS. DOUGLAS-PENNANT EXHIBITS HER MINIATURE POODLE "SUZETTE."

You know about French poodles, queerly clipped as to their hair, remarkably intelligent as to their brain. Put a lump of sugar on the nose of such a poodle and he will sit on his hind legs, looking at it, until you say, "Paid for." Then he tosses it in the air, catches it, swallows it and demonstrates grateful affection.

Now, which perhaps you didn't know, they have "miniature" poodles and here is one of them, exhibited at the Turnbridge Open Dog Show by the Hon. Mrs. Douglas-Pennant, sister of Viscount Hardinge.

You have no idea how much trouble it takes to get a miniature poodle ready for the show. You have to put ribbons in the long hair of its ears, you must have its little legs and tail and the lower part of its slender body clipped, EVER so carefully. You must feed it just so or it will get fat. You must attend to its nervous disposition or it won't appear well in the show ring.

Such a miniature poodle as this "Suzette" requires care, education, all the attention that a concentrated feminine mind can lavish on it.

While you congratulate this honorable lady for taking to the show such a fine miniature poodle, you can't help thinking how much more satisfaction she might have got by devoting the same attention, education, careful feeding and concentrated affection to some miniature HUMAN BEING.

These little creatures also have intelligence, they are grateful and affectionate if you treat them kindly. And they learn to do things much more important than balancing a lump of sugar on their noses.

Luckily a majority of women in the world are engaged in bringing up the TWO-LEGGED miniatures. Let us therefore not grudge "Suzette" all her tender care. Who knows what agonies of shame she may suffer because her little stomach is shamed.

PEGGY, THE MASCOT, ON A FIREBOAT

By DR. FRANK CRANE

IT is an old story, but it is ever new. It is the story of how a dog saved human life.

Particularly it is the story of Peggy, the Spitz mascot on the fireboat George B. McCallan of New York.

A number of men and their families were aboard twenty-six barges one cold day. The barges slipped their moorings and headed for the dark, swirling waters of Hell Gate. Peggy, the dog on the fireboat McCallan, scented something wrong. He sniffed the air and heard the screams of the women and children through the fog. Then he began to howl and jump around the deck. Members of the crew stuck their heads out of the hatches to see what was the matter. They heard the screams of the frenzied women and children and brought this fireboat to the rescue. Another tugboat came along and helped. They got a line to the barges and saved them from going into the whirlpool and being strewn upon the reef.

They brought them down the West Channel of the East River in safety.

When the barges were tied up at the wharf many of the women and children, as well as the men, went down on their knees and offered thanks for their deliverance by the crews of the fireboat and the tugboat.

The real hero of the occasion was the dog Peggy, who by his vigilance had perceived the danger and given timely warning.

An editor was once asked what was the most interesting story in the world and he said it was the story of the dog rescuing the child.

Men have always been fond of the dog because of his faithful attachment and his vigilance in keeping watch. Their natural fondness for the canine will not be lessened by the story of Peggy, the Spitz.

LEADER.

He's a motorman on the BAY VIEW line of the "B" road, but finds time to engage in Irish society activities. His name is JOHN J. POLEY, an ardent supporter of the principles enunciated by DeValera. As a historian and leader in movements for the betterment of his race in America, POLEY has earned an enviable reputation.

FRANKIE.

JAMES M. HOGARTY, who staged functions of note for the Shamrock Club of Boston, made a hit at the banquet of the newly formed MERRIMACK IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION at No. 100 Merrimack street, West End. He was greeted as a GIGGLE-THUMPER by the crowd of 1000.

OH, YOU PAUL BEACH.

POWELL MAYNARD, JR., of FITZGERALD is having a great time at Palm Beach, where he will stay until the end of the winter. He is a member of the "JOHN F." club, which is the most exclusive of the tropic brine, plunges in the stock market, instead, they say will be home again within two weeks.

PHILAN AND FIREWORKS.

JAMES J. PHILAN is one of the Boston Stock Exchange dignitaries now toying with the warm hair sea waves in America's Southland. The local market has been holding him in its absence and many have been the calls for him. In State Street they further forecast that PHILAN's special brand is expected when he returns shortly to look over his favorite issues anew at close range.

1927 CENTS REARER.

A CORNHILL old coin dealer says the cent is selling, if it is the least condition, for 30 cents. He states the high price is due to the fact that in 1823 only 25,000 cents were coined. If you had bought the entire issue of 25,000, and had kept 100 cents in good condition, you would be able to realize a profit of $100. "It is frequently a big word."

THE PATH OF SORROW, and that path alone.

Lead to the land where sorrow is unknown.

Poor indeed thou must me, if I should thee.

Thou no ray of light and joy canst show.

I have considered the pension list of a reputable roll of honor.

Edison on Ideas

By Garrett P. Serviss, Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Subjects of Popular Interest.

TRANSFORMED by time from a "wildcat" into a "sage," Mr. Edison on his eightieth birthday gave out many wise and interesting answers from the accumulated store of his meditations and experiences. In the sparkling current that flowed from his pencil appear two remarks which support each other, and seem to have been born on the very verge where human philosophy meets the unknown—perhaps the unknowable.

"A real new thing," said he, "like a general idea, a beautiful melody, is pulled out of space—a fact which is inexplicable."

Again, he said, in answer to further inquiries about invention: "Stored up experience is the principal thing, but the key to success full methods comes unbidden right out of the air."

I have emphasized the two concordant phrases. They bring out prominently the mystery of the origin of thought. It is like the mystery of the origin and power of faith.

When Sir Isaac Newton was asked how he had achieved his great work he replied: "By always intending to be a consequentialist."

Thought, holding it upon the subject of the key, that Edison pulls the key comes unbidden out of the air, "pulled out of space."

But remark how in every case of a great discoverer or inventor there is a recognition by himself of his impotence to do more than set his faculties on the march and await the coming of the key. Not that it is a little manœuvre, but quite the contrary.

The effort itself of holding the mind intent is probably the greatest test of mental strength. As Edison says: "I have waited and days of thinking show, the waiting is as much as the doing."

The door must be held open for the entrance of the master idea when it springs out of the ether, and a thousand distracting and opposing winds prevent ordinary minds from ever being prepared for the receipt of a truly new thing. They can't keep the door open.

Edison himself is a living explanation of this. He is never idle, never inert. He keeps the mysterious mind of ideas constantly in motion, constantly eddying around his mind.
